For some courses, the rate of attendance and marks in unscheduled examinations are also reflected in grading, or substituted for marks in scheduled examinations. For the evaluation method of each course, see the volume Syllabus through KOAN.

Any corrections in the subject registration forms should be made within the registration period. Take care in preparing and submitting your registration form.

The last day of the registration period is usually about two weeks after the beginning of classes.

Maple Program [M]

1. Program Outline

The Maple Program (The University of Osaka Intensive Japanese Language and Culture Program for Exchange Students) is a short-term student exchange program of The University of Osaka hosted by the Center for Japanese Language and Culture (CJLC).

This one-year program (arrival in Japan in September, classes held from October to August of the following year) is designed to help students improve their Japanese language skills as well as enhance their knowledge of Japanese culture and society, moving them further towards their respective academic goals. Moreover, it aims to cultivate the human resources required to deeply understand Japan from various perspectives by giving students the academic tools to compare and contrast Japanese language, culture and society with their own, and then share that knowledge widely.

A faculty advisor is assigned by the CJLC to each student enrolled in the program to provide advice regarding subject registration and other academic activities.

Course information

The Maple Program features four courses: Pre-intermediate, Intermediate, Upper-intermediate and Advanced. Students are placed in one of these four courses based on the results of a preliminary placement test.

Pre-intermediate Course

This course is designed for students evaluated to be within the CJLC's A2 range of Japanese language proficiency. Students learn Japanese language and culture through a range of activities conducted in "Directed Research & Reading" and further refine their grammar and vocabulary through the courses "Pre-intermediate Japanese α : Grammar & Vocabulary" and "Pre-intermediate Japanese β : Grammar & Vocabulary." Students may choose elective classes from both the Pre-intermediate and Intermediate course levels.

Intermediate Course

This course is designed for students evaluated to be within the CJLC's B1 range of Japanese language proficiency. In addition to classes offered at the Intermediate course level, students may take elective classes from both the Pre-intermediate and Upper-intermediate course levels.

Upper-intermediate Course

The Upper-intermediate Course is intended for students evaluated to be within the CJLC's B2 range of Japanese language proficiency. Students learn Japanese language and culture through a range of activities conducted in "Directed Research & Reading." In addition to classes offered at the Upper-intermediate course level, students may take elective classes from both the Intermediate and Advanced course levels.

Advanced Course

The Advanced Course is designed for students evaluated to be within the CJLC's C1 range of Japanese language proficiency. Students learn Japanese language and culture through a range of activities conducted in "Directed Research & Reading." Classes are conducted in Japanese, with some classes conducted in English.

The following classes are offered: Japanese Linguistics, Japanese Language Education, Japanese Thought, Japanese History, Japanese Literature, Japanese Contemporary Culture, and Japanese Social Sciences.

For each Research Subject, there is an introductory course (“Introduction to XX”) that provides foundational knowledge in the subject concerned while taking into consideration students’ practical ability.

Japanese Linguistics (LIN)

Students analyze various characteristics of the Japanese language from a linguistic perspective. This involves the subfields of phonetics and phonology, morphology and syntax, pragmatics and semantics, typology, contrastive linguistics, social linguistics, and the history of Japanese.

Japanese Language Education (EDU)

This subject provides students with the requisite knowledge and perspective used in examining various aspects of Japanese language education. This includes basic knowledge of Japanese language education, second language acquisition and language pedagogy. Students learn to apply knowledge from related fields such as linguistics and Japanese linguistics in order to deepen their understanding of language education.

Japanese Thought (THO)

This subject examines Japanese thought through disciplines such as religious studies, folkloristics, and cultural anthropology. Students investigate Japanese culture and society from a historical perspective, looking closely at aspects of traditional Japanese culture such as annual festivals and functions.
